BLAIRMORE MAN DIES OF INJURIES

While homeward bound at about 9 o'clock on Saturday evening, Marc Pinel, well known resident of West Blaimore, was hit by a car and died in hospital six hours later from injuries received. The car was driven by James Jilain, going in the same direction. Visibility was poor at the time, the night dark with quite a heavy downpour of rain, and it is believed Jilain did not see the pedestrian until too late. He evidently swerved the car again to avoid hitting a car coming from the opposite direction. The rear fender hit the man, who was immediately rushed to the Blaimore hospital, where he expired six hours later.

An inquest was held on Monday evening at the court house, with Coroner D. MacPherson presiding. The following comprised the jury: Roland Pinkney (foreman), Ernest House, Steve Bobrosky, Alex. McKay, Joseph Kubik and Charles Freeman. The following verdict was returned:

That deceased, Marc Pinel, came to his death in the Blaimore hospital at 3 a.m. on Sunday, March 28th. Death was due to multiple injuries, consisting chiefly of a fracture of the base of the skull, received when deceased, while proceeding west along the main highway through West Blaimore, at a point approximately fifty feet east of the T. H. Morgan residence, between 9 and 9.15 on Saturday evening, March 27th, came in contact with the right rear fender of an automobile driven by James Jilain, of Blaimore, when said James Jilain swerved the car first left to miss the man, then right to miss a car coming from the west. In view of the evidence submitted, and the poor visibility at the time, no blame is attached to anyone. We wish to add the following rider: That where sidewalks are provided for pedestrians, signs be erected, asking pedestrians to use these sidewalks."

The late Mr. Pinel is survived by his wife, three sons, Jack, Philip and Marcel (the former two in the army, the latter at home), and one daughter, Mrs. Charles La Placa, of Calgary. Funeral arrangements are not yet completed, but in all probability it will take place on Saturday or Monday.

Since last fall, Mrs. Mabel Casselman, of the A-7 Ranch in the North Fork district, ardent riflewoman, has bagged one buck deer with 19 points, one bear, one coyote and a marmot cougar which she shot from a tree, later capturing its family of two scratch kittens.

Something new in the line of dances was tried out at Wainwright recently by the high school students. This was a "turnabout" dance, which, as the name suggests, was carried out in a manner contrary to other dances. The girls did the dating, called for the boys and asked for dances.

The following speech was made at the Natal theatre recently by Mr. Sylvio Gms, of Natal, after rumors had been heard since the fire at the Natal Trading Co. Ltd., which was totally destroyed. Some 400 spectators were present at the time: "Ladies and Gentlemen: I got a good opportunity to make a speech tonight. You all know what happened to the Natal Trading Co. After 33 years of work and sweat, I lost everything. A few months ago I cancelled some $5,000 worth of insurance that I was unable to pay. Had the people of Natal and Michel paid up their bills this would not have happened. I would not take anything from any sick people, or from anyone that is unable to pay; but to those that have money in the bank, and have failed to pay their bills, I will speak another language—that language being the Fernie court, twenty at a time."—Signed, S. Gria.

FUEL SHORTAGE BECOMING MORE ACUTE; WOOD SERVES WAR IN VARIETY OF WAYS

Wood has entered active service and has become a vital war material. That, and the acute labor and transportation shortage, is the explanation for the fuel wood shortage. Its use in aircraft propellers is only one of the many forms in which it is serving as a war material.

Number one among its natural resources, Canada's forests are also the backbone of the Dominion's most important industry—pulp and paper—of which it is the world's largest producer.

Since the outbreak of the war, wood has become still more vital to Canadians. It has replaced critical materials in hundreds of products, war as well as civilian. As a result, production has increased from less than four billion feet of lumber sawn in 1939 to more than five billion in 1941.

Wood, in the form of nitrocellulose and other constituents is one of the main sources of supply for Canada's military explosives industry. Scores of new war plants, such as the huge Boeing aircraft factory in Vancouver, are of wooden construction throughout. The department of munitions and supply's four sprawling administration buildings in Ottawa are also of wooden construction, including girders and framework. Hundreds of wooden craft, ranging from lifeboats to wooden minesweepers and 112-foot patrol boats are being built in Canada for the navies of the United Nations. Even some army vehicles, such as the snowmobile, are now being turned out with plywood bodies. Most remarkable development has been the use of wood in aircraft construction. Several types of planes now being produced in Canada contain a large proportion of wood in their framework; others are built almost entirely from wood. The new Anson V, a Canadian plane, is one of these. The De Havilland Mosquito, world's fastest and most manoeuvrable war plane, now in quantity production in Canada, is another. Its multi-layer plywood fuselage is considered by many experts to be superior in many respects to metal construction. Wood propellers are also being manufactured here in large quantities.

With almost half of the world's wood right in her own back yard, Canada is nevertheless suffering from a serious wood-fuel shortage at the present time, and is faced with the prospect of a famine in this respect next winter. The alarm has been sounded, and all Canadians are called upon to act now to assure themselves of sufficient wood next winter for heating and cooking.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN OUR SCHOOLS

At a recent meeting of the Home and School Association at Strathmore, the subject of "Religious education in our schools" came up for discussion. Three points were emphasized by the speakers: The necessity for religious education in the present disrupted world; the place of religious education in the school curriculum; the necessity for such education being conscientiously prepared to avoid any misunderstanding between various religious sects.

Funeral will take place at 3 p.m. Sunday from the residence of Mr. Ernest House, Blaimore, with Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., officiating. Service will be held in the United church, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Union cemetery, A. E. Ferguson, of the Crows' Nest Undertaking Co., in charge of arrangements.

The late Mrs. Bettinger was a native of Belgium, and came to Canada thirty-one years ago.

Gorgeous Butterflies

Army Officer Has Seen Them Near Camp in Siam

"Often yard-square patches of quivering beauty" is the description of butterfly assemblies seen in Siam, as he refers to call Thailand, by Lieut. Col. C. H. Stockley, who writes about it in the Field, of London:

"As the sun grows hot gorgeous butterflies collect on the damp sand of the stream beside camp. One boiling spring close to camp was a wonderful sight about 10 o'clock in the morning, the warm, wet mud attracting clouds of lovely butterflies, each group keeping themselves to themselves; swallowtails in one, white in another, little blues several yards from either."

To Aid Malta People

Some of Queen's Canadian Fund Used To Purchase Supplies

The Lord Mayor's Fund is to spend $45,000 on clothing for Malta. This sum will in part be drawn from gifts from the Queen's Canadian Fund.

It was recently reported to the Lord Mayor's Fund through the Colonial Office that there was the greatest need for clothing of all kinds in the George Cross Island—particularly for footwear. There was no use sending money for the purpose, as the stores have hardly any goods to sell.

Accordingly, the Lord Mayor's Fund has arranged with the Colonial Office for shipping space to the maximum allowed. This will permit the dispatch of $45,000 worth of clothes and footwear. It will be on its way almost at once.

Owing to the urgency of the appeal, stocks of clothing already on hand were raided. Such stocks were largely in the hands of the Women's Voluntary Services, who distribute them on behalf of the Lord Mayor's Fund and the Queen's Canadian Fund.

Because of the Malta requirements and because of large allocations of clothing recently made to air raid victims, these stocks have become depleted. A large grant was necessary to bring them up to the required levels, and so large a sum as $225,000 was voted.

This, too, comes in part from the Queen's Fund gifts, while the Queen's Fund's recent subscriptions to the Lord Mayor's Fund will be used also to help defray grants totalling $17,000 to the mayors of three London boroughs, St. Pancras, Edmonton and Camberwell, where the effects of the blitz are still gravely felt.

Mechanized Vehicles

Canada's Has Supplied Enough To Form Close Convoy 1,000 Miles Long

Canadians should take special pride in the fact that all the universal carriers used by the British Eighth Army in its advance from Egypt to Tunisia were of Canadian production and that the great armada accompanying the landings in North Africa carried about 40,000 Canadian mechanized vehicles. What this country has done to furnish Allied fighting forces with the mechanized vehicles that are so essential is proved by the statement that enough of them have left this country since the start of the war to form a close convoy 1,000 miles long. Just as many more of them will be sent overseas if they are needed—Brockville Recorder and Times.

A VISIT TO PARLIAMENT AND PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL

(Article 25, by Walter R. Legge)

Although our schedule did not include a visit to the British Parliament, most of the members of the Bomber Press party managed to steal enough time to pay a visit to this bulwark of freedom.

On September 11th, the two representatives of the weekly press of Canada, Mr. C. V. Charters and I, paid a visit to Parliament. Our visit was arranged through Sir Drummond Shields, secretary of the Empire Parliamentary Association, who secured for us admission cards to the Dominion's Gallery.

First we visited Sir Drummond Shields' office, which adjoins Westminster Hall. This hall is one of the oldest and most interesting sections of the Parliament Buildings. It was built by William Rufus in 1097-1100, and was altered by Richard II. in 1377-1399. It was originally part of the Palace of Westminster, was saved when the rest of the palace was destroyed by fire in 1834, and was incorporated in the Parliament Buildings, the balance of which dates only from about 1840.

This hall may well be called the birthplace of democracy, for it was here that in 1265 Simon de Montfort opened the first parliament, the model on which all subsequent democratic parliaments have been patterned. It is interesting to note that Simon de Montfort, who is considered to have been a martyr to liberal government, was a French-speaking Englishman. For two hundred years after 1265 the proceedings of the English parliament were conducted in French.

Westminster Hall is 290 feet long, 68 feet wide, and 90 feet high. The hammer beam roof of carved oak, which dates from 1399, is one of the principal features.

Previous to 1882, state trials were held in this hall, including those of Charles I., Sir Thomas More, Guy Fawkes and Warren Hastings. It was also in this hall that King Edward VII. and George V. lay in state before their funerals.

Next we went to see the ruins of the House of Commons. It is uncanny the way in which this room has been totally destroyed, with nothing left but the walls, while rooms next to it have been practically destroyed with those on both sides left intact.

We were taken to lunch in the parliamentary restaurant, where we found that the Members have no favors so far as food is concerned. It is neither better nor worse than other restaurants in London. On the wall is an electric sign, which shows who is speaking in the House.

While going through one of the corridors in the Parliament Buildings we came face to face with Hon. W. P. Mulock, postmaster general of Canada, who were surprised to know was in England.

We were taken to the temporary quarters of the House of Commons. There are about 615 members, and it must be pretty crowded when all are present at the same time. The debate on the Indian problem was in progress and we heard some very fine oratory. We listened to part of the debate. After hearing something of this vexing problem from authorities who have been in India and understood something about it, we have come to the conclusion that few of those who offer gratuitous advice from a distance of several thousand miles are qualified to offer opinions.

It is not an easy matter to attend a session of the British Parliament at the present time. There were few visitors when we were there. We were sorry not to have seen the Prime Minister in action, but he was not in the House while we were present.

The proceedings were interrupted by a Royal Commission, which is an elaborate ceremony when bills which have been passed are sent up for approval. While we did not see or hear Mr. Churchill in the House of Commons, we were given an opportunity to meet him informally at a later date.

As Parliament was in session, his time was taken up more than usual, if that is possible. Our meeting was set for twelve o'clock noon, and needed to say none of our party was late or absent. We were shown into his office, and as we entered he came from behind his desk, and shook each one of us by the hand with a firm handshake. We were introduced individually by Hon. Vincent Massey. Mr. Churchill made sure he got every name right and the place from which each came.

The Prime Minister was in his usual black double-breasted coat, grey striped trousers, and bow tie, and was smoking the usual cigar. He looked to be even younger than when we saw him at the press conference in Ottawa less than a year before. He exuded health, vitality, strength and confidence. His complexion was clear, his face unlined, his brow unfurrowed.

It was an off-the-record conference, so his words cannot be reported, but as he spoke in quiet, confident tones, in an informal way, we hung on his every word. Without minimizing the difficulties, he breathed determination to see the war through to ultimate victory.

To meet him informally as we did is a privilege we greatly appreciated. A day or so later, we heard that at his lunch that day, he remarked that he was sorry he could not have given more time to those Canadian editors, but we were delighted that he was able to give us the short time he did. It was a 'meeting none of us will ever forget.

60,000 CARS SEEN IN SPECIAL CATEGORY

Some 60,000 Alberta motorists are expected to apply for "special" category coupons now that the gasoline rationing system for the present license year is in effect. Those who desire to obtain this higher category should not delay taking the necessary steps, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Under the announced rationing system, initial "AA" coupon books are issued to all car owners taking out the provincial license. These licenses, plates and ration books are obtainable at A.M.A. offices and at government offices in the province.

Those who desire to obtain a greater allowance than is provided by category "AA," which is 120 gallons for the year opening April 1st, must send in a special form asking for the higher category, accompanied by their provincial motor vehicle license receipt to the regional oil controller at Edmonton.

AFTER THE WAR

In the March issue of "The Mountain Viewpoint," monthly publication of the R.C.A.F. station at Mountain View, Ontario, a F.O. writes:-

"Major Power, air minister, has asked Parliament for help, from any quarter, on the problem of rehabilitating in civil life the men of the armed forces on whom Canada's destiny is built. Perhaps we can help him by letting him see the kind of life we, of the armed forces, want when we come home.

"Major Power says that in peace time there will be a let-down from thrills. Certainly after the last war there was a big let-down; we came home to a land where everyone seemed to be most interested in getting ahead of one another, and squabbling for money and position. We were tired and disillusioned and found it hard to be interested in such things. We had known at the front a great sense of purpose and comradeship, but they seemed to have gone. Work became something unpleasant that had to be done to get us enough money to be comfortable and have a good time. The result was unhappiness, depression and unemployment.

"This time we want the thrills to continue; and they will if, as a nation, we Canadians are ready to do something about it. The biggest thrills come from pitching into a job to create something worth while. We must become part of a great plan of world building that will ensure the kind of life we dream about—but which so far has seemed unattainable.

"It's the kind of life where kids can grow up in happy homes that are full of love and laughter, where everybody trusts each other. Homes from which people can go out to work at jobs where all are pulling together, free from ambition and greed. It's the kind of life where nations are pooling their resources and giving freely of their riches, both spiritual and material, for the common good. "The Government can lay great plans for a new world order. They will materialize only if we have enough of the spirit of patriotism to make decisions free from all notions of self-seeking and personal advantage.

"It's not a new system, but a new spirit we need. With such a spirit sweeping across Canada, both now and after the war, we will have the total victory and true democracy we are fighting for. Then Canada will find her great destiny."

YUKON TO HAVE

PRICE CONTROL

With the opening of a local office at Whitehorse, Yukon Territories, early this month, full scope of the work of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as it applies to prices and rentals will go into effect, Walter S. Campbell, regional representative of the Board in Alberta, announces.

O. O. Davis, of Calgary, formerly tire rationing representative of the Board and assistant to the local representative in Calgary, has been appointed local representative at Whitehorse.

Survey of rentals is already under way at Whitehorse, where W. L. A. Pope, regional rentals officer from Regina, and G. B. Weneau, rentals examiner from Regina office, have been appointed a special committee to fix all rents.

After completing their survey at Whitehorse, Mr. Pope and Mr. Weneau will proceed south along the Alaska highway to conduct surveys in Dawson Creek, Fort St. John and boom towns in the area.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON SUGAR FOR HOME CANNING

April 15th will roll around very quickly and, as every housewife knows, that is the date on which her application for sugar for canning fruit this summer must be in the hands of her local ration board.

Questions on the subject are numerous, and answers prepared by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in co-operation with the Dominion department of agriculture are as follows:

Q—How much sugar is allowed for canning? A—One half pound of sugar for each quart sealer.

Q—How can I estimate the amount of sugar I require for canning? A—Estimate the total number of quart sealers you plan to put up. Then allow half a pound of sugar for each quart sealer. If you plan to can 20 quarts of fruit you will need 10 pounds of sugar.

Q—How can I tell exactly how much of each kind of fruit will be available? A—That would be impossible. Don't try to decide the number of sealers of each kind of fruit you will put up. Base your estimate on the number of sealers you have on hand; and what you put up last year; on what you think you will require this year.

Q—I want to make some jam and jelly. How much sugar is allowed for these? A—One and one half (1½) pounds of sugar for each quart of jam or jelly.

Q—I am planning to make up 8 quarts of jam and jelly. How much sugar will I require? A—You are allowed 1½ pounds of sugar for each quart, therefore you will require 12 pounds of sugar.

Q—Most of my jam and jelly jars are of various shapes. How can I estimate how many quarts they will hold? A—Take the jar you usually use for jam or jelly and see how many cups of water they hold. Four cups make a quart. If they hold 20 cups of water, for example, you will require sugar for 5 quarts or 7½ pounds of sugar, in this instance.

Q—Is it true that I should can more fruit and make less jam and jelly? A—Yes. The department of agriculture recommends canning fruit in preference to making jam or jelly, because: more fruit can be put up with less sugar at less cost; canned fruit retains more of the vitamin value of the fresh fruit.

Q—How shall I get my sugar for canning and jam and jelly making? A—When your local ration board has reviewed your application you will be provided with special canning sugar coupons sometime before June 1st, which will entitle you to buy sugar at any grocery store at specified intervals.

Meat rationing for Canada will go into effect on May 1st on a basis of two pounds a week per person. Meatless days will be observed by restaurants, hotels and other public eating places.

THE WASTEFULNESS

OF HOARDING

Hoarding means something more than providing and economizing materials for future use. In a world of action, hoarding brings everything that is hoarded to a standstill. Now we are, as a nation, using every effort to win the war, and, to win the war, foodstuffs and materials of every kind must be made to work, and every one must work to a direct purpose. That movement is the law of life is proved by its application to inanimate things. It is being declared in a large and dramatic way by the world's need to make every act and material thing one hundred per cent effective.

The law of movement, applied to inanimate things, the effect of hoarding, frequently is disclosed by failures of industrial plants after years of apparent prosperity. Such failures are mainly due to the misconception that accumulated material in storage or in plant has active manufacturing value, whereas it has merely the basic value of unused raw material, however changed in form or however great the expense involved in changing it from metal pigs. When credit based on such imaginary value is exhausted, the real intrinsic market of material and equipment discloses itself.—Ex.

Only the

*With Food and Comforts for
Our Prisoners of War!*

BARBED WIRE and enemy guards "do not a prison make" for Canadian soldiers captured by the enemy. Their thoughts, winging across the sea, meet Red Cross parcels on their way to them. Last year, the enemy said "pass" to 2,000,000 such parcels. They were packed with 22,000,000 pounds of food and comforts welcomed by men to whom the bare necessities have become luxuries.

But, most of all, to each prisoner every Red Cross parcel is a message from home—a definite assurance that he is not forgotten, a reminder that no captured Canadian soldier is ever marked "off strength" by the Red Cross.

Thirty percent of the money you gave to the Red Cross last year was used to provide parcels for prisoners of war. The money you give now will help to keep up and increase this flow of good cheer and hope to these lonely men.

Discuss Plans For Providing Post-War Work

Ottawa.—Planning of a reserve of public works projects to provide for post-war employment was discussed before the House of Commons committee on reconstruction and re-establishment by K. M. Cameron, chief engineer of the department of public works.

"What is needed is a national development program which will make the best use of our existing assets, and restore or improve those facilities which we are over-working under the strain of war," Mr. Cameron said. "We need programs which help to open up opportunities for productive investment as well as provide social benefits themselves."

The post-war task must differ widely from projects of the depression years, he said. The program of the '30's, lacked co-ordination and planning, and continuity; was restricted in the type of project to dirt-moving jobs; and provided employment only for the manual and unskilled type of labor, he said.

"A construction project to be of real value demands complete preparation in its technical, legal and financial details."

A successful construction program must enlist the technical aid of architects, conservationists, engineers and town and community planners, he said.

He cited four Dominion-wide projects that could provide post-war employment:

1. Communication and transportation; the extension of highways, roads, navigable waterways, telephone, telegraph and radio.
2. Conservation and development of natural resources.
3. Urban and rural improvements like slum clearance, building of community centres and schools, and rural electrification.
4. Tourist facilities.

UNDER RATIONING

Small Arms Ammunition Will Be Supplied To Essential Users

Ottawa.—The prices board announced an order placing small arms ammunition under rationing to ensure adequate supplies for those rated as essential users. In this category are placed persons who depend on hunting for food, trappers, prospectors, members of the R.C.M.P. and some other police forces, and persons guarding property or livestock.

The order made no reference to the individual who goes hunting for pleasure and it was presumed he would not be permitted to buy ammunition. Members of rifle, revolver and gun clubs, under certain circumstances, may buy ammunition.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Was Held In London For Late Sir Edward Beatty

Montreal.—A memorial service for Sir Edward Beatty, late chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, was held in the Church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields in London, March 30, it was announced by C.P.R. officials.

Sir Edward, who died in hospital here after a two-year illness, was buried at St. Catharines, Ont., where other members of the Beatty family are buried on a site not far from Sir Edward's native town of Thorold. Funeral services were held here in the Presbyterian church of St. Andrew and St. Paul.

REPORT ON CAMP

International Red Cross Says Conditions In Hong Kong Better

London.—Latest report from the International Red Cross shows that conditions at Stanley Camp, Hong Kong, are improving steadily. Richard Law, foreign under-secretary, told the House of Commons.

The report was dated Jan. 25 and further information is expected when Red Cross authorities make their periodic visits to the camp, he said.

More than 1,500 Canadian soldiers, mostly members of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and Royal Rifles of Canada from Quebec, are listed officially as Japanese prisoners of war.

FINDS A WAY

San Diego, Cal.—Although an invalid and over age, Walter L. Skelley, 70, has found a way to do "his bit" on the home front. Together with his wife they make blankets from old woolen clothing donated by their friends and neighbors, and turn them over to the Red Cross. They have made 20 to date.

PRISONS CROWDED

Means Are Being Found To Guard Them. They Cannot Be Guarded

London.—The Germans are shooting prisoners in Polish prisons in wholesale numbers because the prisons have become so full they are having difficulties maintaining security measures, the Polish Telegraph Agency said.

The agency reported that the entire population of the Rowno prison camp in Poland was executed after an attempted break in which two guards were reported to have been killed.

There was a similar incident at the Pinsk camp, the agency said, when a group of armed Poles invaded the prison, killed three of the 12 guards and freed 54 prisoners. Next day the Germans surrounded the prison and shot 30 of the remaining prisoners, the agency added.

No figure was given for the number executed at Rowno.

MUST BE PROVED

British M.P. Says Sweden's Attitude Is Definitely Pro-Axis

London.—Sir Alfred Knox, Conservative, told the House of Commons that Sweden's attitude since the beginning of the war had been "definitely pro-Axis" and suggested that the United Nations had power to bring her into line by withholding foodstuffs sent from U.S.

His charge followed questions to the government which asserted that German transport aircraft carrying troops and unmounted machine-guns had been passing over Sweden.

Norman Bower, Conservative, asked whether Britain "would make it clear to the Swedish government that these breaches of neutrality on the part of Sweden must react inevitably to her disadvantage."

Richard Law, foreign under-secretary, answered that the facts must be established first.

Trans-Canada Airlines Makes Plans For Future

Ottawa.—Plans for trans-oceanic flying are under consideration by Trans-Canada Airlines, H. J. Symington, president, announced in his annual report tabled in the House of Commons by Munitions Minister C. D. Howe.

"Canada's national air line is destined to play an important part in world aviation," said Mr. Symington. "Canada occupies an important position in the future of the air world. The shortest routes between North America and Europe and Asia cross Canada and weather conditions are stable. Formulation of detailed programs await developments."

Mr. Symington also announced that Trans-Canada plans a shorter route for its Canadian transcontinental service, the new route when opened to be over Lakes Huron and Superior, instead of north of those lakes, and thence to points of exit in western Canada and Yukon.

An understanding has been reached between the governments of Canada and U.S. to maintain the existing agreement respecting international air services until after the close of the war, but either contracting party may reopen negotiations following six months notice, the reports stated.

In conjunction with the post office authorities Trans-Canada plans to extend its line from Vancouver to Vancouver Island as soon as the necessary permit is issued by the board of transport commissioners. Airport facilities now are available and the new service will give Victoria and other island communities direct air mail, passenger and express service to central and western provinces.

Indicative of the company's expansion were figures showing that revenue passengers carried increased by 23 per cent, mail carried increased by 66 per cent, and air express by 109 per cent.

The company had 24 Lockheed airplanes in operation at the end of 1942. Its total personnel was 1,662 last Dec. 31, of whom 464 were women.

The balance sheet as at Dec. 31 showed current assets of $2,950,044 and current liabilities of $996,289, leaving net working capital of $1,953,755.

WANTS HELP FOR JEWS

London.—The Archbishop of Canterbury called upon the government to "open our doors" to Jews, and suggested that block visas be granted through the consuls in Spain, Portugal and perhaps Turkey, "so that all who can may come."

HELD RESPONSIBLE

British House Gandhi And His Party For Recent Uprisings

London.—Mohandas K. Gandhi and the Indian Congress party under his leadership were charged by a British white paper with full responsibility for the recent Nationalist uprisings.

The white paper said Gandhi never believed that his non-violence policy could defend India. It said after he proposed to resist Japan with non-violence, the Congress passed a resolution agreeing that Allied troops should be stationed in India as assurance against attack.

The white paper, in effect, is an explanation of the government's reasons for imprisoning Gandhi at Poona. Gandhi recently completed a three-week fast which he began in an attempt to win release.

FOOD PRODUCTS

Problems Discussed By United States-Canadian Agricultural Committee

Ottawa.—First Canadian meeting of the standing United States-Canadian agricultural committee ended after what members said was "a discussion of different programs and problems concerning various food products."

Dr. G. S. H. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture and chairman of the Canadian section, said continuing discussions would be held in accordance with the assignment given the standing committee to keep agriculture and food production in Canada and the United States under study to further such developments as may be desirable.

Five United States agriculture and food authorities met with the Canadian committee men.

NEW LOAN SLOGAN

"Back The Attack" Is Suggested As Being Most Appropriate

Toronto.—Slogan of Canada's next Victory Loan probably will be "Back The Attack," R. J. Dunlevy, public relations adviser to the national war finance committee, said.

Addressing a meeting of personnel managers and personnel publications editors, Mr. Dunlevy said the slogan fitted in with the probability that a "second front" would be opened soon.

Half Of Food For Americans Now Rationed

Washington.—Half of the food Americans eat is now under coupon rationing for the duration.

Details of the American rationing program for meat, butter, cheese, fats, cooking oils and canned fish were announced by the office of price administration.

For all these items each person will be allowed 16 points a week from the red stamps on war ration book two.

The point values of meat will range at first from one point per pound for pig's ears, pig's feet and bacon, 12 to 12 points per pound for dried beef.

The Office of Price Administration says point values are based as far as possible on the supply and the known preferences of consumers, and they are subject to change as the supply and demand fluctuate from month to month.

They can divide up 16 points per week any way among the newly rationed items. For example, Americans can buy a pound of steak and a pound of butter at eight points a pound each, and thus use up all the 16 points. Or they can buy 16 pounds of pig's ears, if they want them.

Or Americans can, as the Office of Price Administration expects, confine the bulk of their meat purchases to the lower point values, and spread the rest of their allowance for necessary purchases of butter, fats and cheese.

As to whether consumers can be sure of getting all varieties of meat, the Office of Price Administration says "probably not." In localities in the states where there have been shortages of meat, it may take a little time before markets will have a complete assortment. But the Office of Price Administration expects one of the chief results of meat rationing to be more adequate supplies in areas where there have been shortages—such as New York, Boston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and other war industry centres.

Japanese Must Pay More For Fishing Rights

London.—Japan and Russia, not at war against each other but fighting on opposite sides in the world struggle, have signed an agreement extending Japanese fishing privileges in Soviet far eastern waters, it was announced.

A Moscow broadcast recorded by the Soviet monitor here said, however, that Japanese fishing companies must pay between four and five per cent more than during last year. The payments are to be in gold as before.

Under the 1942 agreement which ended last Dec. 31 the Russians had exacted a 20-per cent increase in rentals over the price paid by the Japanese the previous year.

S. A. Losovsky, vice-commissioner for Soviet foreign affairs, and Naotake Sato, Japanese ambassador to Russia, signed the 1943 protocol in Khabarovsk, the Moscow broadcast said.

Renewal of the Japanese-Soviet agreement generally is regarded as a gauge of relations between the two countries who have a neutrality agreement despite the fact that Japan is allied with Germany, and Russia is a member of the United Nations group.

Last year's agreement was signed after Germany had attacked Russia, and Japan had attacked the United States. At the time British and American officials termed the renewal a purely routine matter. A failure to renew, however, would have been regarded as indicating Soviet-Japanese tension.

In 1942 the terms restricted the Japanese to bidding for concessions in only seven of the 12 fishing grounds, most of them off the Kamchatka peninsula. A Soviet refusal to grant fishing rights would be a severe blow to Japan whose food supply depends to a large extent on her catch in Russian waters.

WARTIME BOARD

Expenses For Information Now Total $578,162, According To Report

Ottawa.—Expenses of the wartime information board since its inception total $578,162, said a return tabled in the House of Commons.

The total includes salaries, honoraria and living allowances of $119,209. Members of the board have not received any salary, honorarium or allowance, the return said.

Speeches made by the prime minister and other members of the government are distributed by the board "when judged of national significance." Such distribution has been made in five instances, the return said.

GREEK GUERRILLAS

Awaiting The Day When They Can Help United Nations

Cairo.—Greek guerrillas who live on supplies meant for the Axis, will be ready to help the United Nations drive the Axis from Greece, says Epaminondas Tsellos, minister of public welfare of the Greek government here.

The underground in Greece, Tsellos said, is organized on a cellular basis and works in complete liaison with the government which has offices in both London and Cairo.

He thinks there is grave danger of the health of the entire country being undermined through malnutrition.

Australia And New Zealand Prepare For Attack By Japan

Canberra.—Australia and New Zealand are strengthening themselves for a possible new Japanese assault in the south Pacific.

New Zealand Prime Minister Frank Fraser also said his country's air strength had increased 100 times since the start of the war.
